§9. Semester round Year 1 – There has been one dropout so far and the students are satisfied, although they do not like Kemicentrum as much as BMC.

Year 2 – Have just started PBL sessions which is appreciated among the students. There has been problem with the cell culture lab in the genetic and molecular medicine course. The students are supposed to do the preparation work by themselves without any background information or introduction lectures, which many find very difficult. This is the same problem as last year and should therefore be thoroughly discussed at the course evaluation.

Year 3 – Are pleased with the developmental biology course. The demonstration labs and the summary lectures have been very good.

Master year 1 – There seem to be shared opinions about the course in advanced molecular medicine. Some students think that the cell culture part is too basic and could be introduced earlier in the bachelor programme. Others think that the statistics lectures are "terrible" and too much information is presented in too little time.

Master year 2 – No representatives present.

§10. Review of the previous meeting of the executive management team of Biomedical Education (OLBU).
Jonas Danielsen

Jonas Danielsen attended. They have discussed the introduction of a lecture (or lectures) about how the biomedical industry looks like and what a graduated biomedicine student can work with.

The students currently in semester 3 of the bachelor programme may be allowed to choose between a thesis of 30 or 15 credits. To be able to make a decision, the students need more information about the possible pros and cons. Some kind of informational seminar will be held to discuss this.

§11. Review of the previous meeting of the Board of Biomedical, Medical and Public Health Education (NBMFU). Jonas Danielsen

Jonas Danielsen attended. No comments.

§12. Mentor activities, Esther Nobs-Lindau

Esther Nobs-Lindau suggested that mentor activities should be partially replaced with other social activities that will include all students of the biomedicine programmes in Lund. This will hopefully create a stronger sense of community within the programme and be a suitable environment to discuss difficulties with studies etc. The suggestion is to at least once a month arrange a get-together and, for example, "fika", study, have dinner or go to a party. A biomedicine "sittning" will also be arranged once every semester. Two students per class will communicate with Esther regarding schedules and some planning. Information about the activities will be posted in the Facebook group that Martin Andersson will create.

§13. Other issues

Diana Kajsmark has received an email from a former biomedicine student that now has a PhD position at the Marie Curie ITN. She wonder if she can come and give a lecture about her work at the Marie Curie ITN which in that case will be held sometime between 15-21 October. The student representatives will ask their class if there is any interest to attend this and report back to Jonas.

§12. Chairman

declares the meeting closed Jonas Danielsen declared the meeting closed.
