structure and workload. Abrupt schedule changes have occurred and the structure has not always been clear. A meeting at the start of the year to explain this was suggested.

Year 3 –

The course has been running smoothly so far aside from difficulties with the amount of content covered.

Year 2 –

The lectures have been very dense and students have felt there was not enough time to study for each iRAT. The iRAT questions have been on an appropriate level. There is a lack of continuity between the teaching styles of different professors, resulting in widely different TBL applications and questions.

Year 1 –

Students starting the program had trouble finding the classrooms, activating key cards, etc and a tour or info session was suggested to ameliorate this. The first iRAT and two projects are due in the same week, causing stress for students. Course organization has not been optimal, with a lack of enthusiasm from the biology teacher and inconsistencies between study objectives and iRAT questions (difference in specificity). However, the course has been ok overall.

§7. Reports

PNM –

Lectures with more than 50 people will be online, with all TBLs and group work in person. The goal is for everything to be in person by 1st November. Replacement study rooms will be put up at HSC for student use. QPS has a new feature called blueprinting to allow for an overall view of work throughout the program.

BRO –

Nothing to report

Program directors –

A meeting with the program board will occur in late October or early November. Discussion has mainly been focused on the evaluation of the grading system, with some emphasis on choice of a life science vs academic track after Masters.

International committee –

Nothing to report. A meeting will be held in October, with future discussions to include international students and exchange.

Examination committee – grade appeal have been discussed. More student representatives for QPS are needed.

No other reports were given.

§8. Discussion points

Evaluation of the New Grading System

A discussion of the results from the survey on the new grading system was held. One of the biggest issues is a lack of consistency between professors and courses on what is required to get pass with distinction. The levels for pass or pass with distinction vary between courses, and the criteria for pass with distinction can be confusing or hard to locate (especially common for Master's students.) This was consistent with the survey results. Whether or not rubrics should be standardized was also discussed in detail. Sample papers and more clarity for what is needed to reach pass with distinction are important for future courses.

§9. Other

Two more StorBUR meetings will be held this semester.

§10. Chairperson declares the meeting closed

Nadja Sand declared the meeting closed.
